

REMARKS

In the Office Action, Claims 1, 3, 4, 6-8 and 12-17 are rejected. Claims 1, 3, 4, 6-8 and 12-17 remain currently pending. Reconsideration and allowance of all pending claims are respectively requested.

Rejections under 35U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, claims 1, 3, 4, 6-8 and 12-17 have been amended to overcome the rejections.

In Claim 1, it is amended as "...means for creating a signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm..." and the term "creating" is used to be definite for the claim.

In Claim 1, the terms, "accordingly" and "a motion event" were removed, and the sentence is amended in more compact language.

In Claim 1, the previous paragraph (a) becomes the present paragraph (b) and vice-versa for keeping the steps of our invention in order.

In Claim 3, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding "...for said signal..."

In Claim 4, it is amended to overcome the rejection by replacing "oscillatory digital signals or currents" with "said signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm."

In Claim 6, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding "the amplitude of said signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm."

In Claim 7, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding "said signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm."

In Claim 8, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding "said signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm."

In Claim 12, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding as "...said signal of simulated brain alpha rhythm ..." and the said signal is previously recited in Claim 1.

In Claim 13, it is amended to overcome the rejection by removing the statement "...that is small in size and light in weight for moving easily."

In Claim 14, it is amended to overcome the rejection by adding "...adapted to confront..."

In Claim 15, the claim is canceled.

In Claim 16, it is amended as a method claim that the apparatus can be used for treating men's prostate problems.

In Claim 17, it is amended as a method claim that apparatus can be used for treating sleep disorders.

Rejection under 35 U.S.C. 101, Claim14 is amended to overcome the rejection. The term of "adapted to" is added in the claim.

In the objection to Claim 1 line 2, it is corrected by using "...apparatus for..."

REQUEST FOR ASSISTANCE

This invention has a great clinical significance. A preliminary study showed that the apparatus improved men's prostate conditions and sleep disorders. Applicants have amended the claims with their best efforts and hard work (a pro se case). If the Examiner feels that the claims are not in full condition of allowance, applicants respectfully and gratefully request the assistance of the Examiner pursuant to M.P.E.P. §707.07 (j) to finalize the claims in condition for allowance.

CONCLUSION

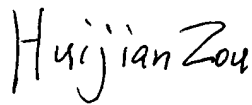

In response to the Office Action, applicants have amended the claims. Applicants respectfully request that a timely Notice of Allowance be issued in this case. If any outstanding issue remains, the Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned (Xiaoming Wang) at the telephone number indicated below.

We greatly appreciate your assistance and attention.

Respectfully Submitted,

Xiaoming Wang

Huijian Zou

Wei Chen

Date: 9-11-06

Xiaoming Wang
P.O. Box 21146

CERTIFICATE OF MAILING

I, the undersigned, certify that on September 11, 2006, this correspondence is being deposited with the United States Postal Service in a sealed envelope, with postage prepaid as the express mail to the address as follows:

COMMISSIONER FOR PATENTS
P. O. Box 1450
Alexandria, VA 22313-1450

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Xiaoming Wang", written over a horizontal line.

Signature

A handwritten date "9-11-2006" written over a horizontal line.

DATE

Xiaoming Wang, M.D., Ph.D.
P.O. Box 21146
Bakersfield, CA 93390
As Applicant